Subject: Phase 1 Modifications

Hello, Troy:

I hope you are well. For your information, we are planning to make some revisions to Phase 1 requirements. These revisions will be reflected in the Phase 2 requirements, but before that is released, we are amending two here. These amendments are effective immediately. First, we are rescinding the prohibition of on-course waste receptacles. We are now allowing such receptacles, but only if lids are removed. This way, golfers will not make physical contact with the bins, and courses will no longer have to deal with excessive littering. Second, we are modifying the "one rider per power cart" rule. We are now allowing members of the same household to ride together. This amendment brings the rule in line with others that allow members of the same household to travel together.

For clarification on driving ranges and golf instruction, I am duplicating my responses here so that everything is contained in a single correspondence.

Driving Ranges and Practice Areas

Standalone driving ranges, attached driving ranges, and practice areas meeting the same standards that apply to golf courses are permitted to operate.

Golf Instruction

As long as the instructor and student follow the safety measures set forth in the Golf Phase 1 Requirements, they are free to enjoy a lesson together.

Best regards,
Alejandro
